To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Eric Griswold for the teaching credential program at SDSU. Eric is a substitute teacher who has taught in my classroom on many occasions, and he is the first substitute I ask to cover for me when I am going to be absent. I have consistently been impressed by Eric's professionalism, flexibility, and his ability to make lasting positive impacts on my students.

Since the first day he worked in my classroom, I have heard nothing but good things from my Paraeducator-Independence Facilitator (who acts as a co-teacher) about his ability to seamlessly integrate his teaching style into our classroom environment while maintaining continuity in instruction. He possesses a natural talent for engaging the students while effectively delivering lessons covering the full spectrum of subject matter. He always communicates with me at the end of each day, concisely explaining how each lesson plan was executed and how the students responded.

One of Eric's standout qualities is his genuine commitment to student growth. He often makes on-the-fly adjustments to the lesson plans I leave for him in order to make them more engaging and accessible for the students, taking the time to understand each student's needs and adapting his teaching methods to ensure that all learners are supported. My students all respond very well to this; they love having him in the classroom and each of them has told me that he is their favorite sub.

I am confident that Eric will bring the same level of excellence to any opportunity he chooses to pursue. His positive attitude and willingness to go above and beyond would make him an invaluable asset in any educational setting.

Please feel free to contact me if you require any additional information or would like to discuss Eric's qualifications in more detail.
